LUTHERAN CHURCH

A Prayer for the New Year

Lord,
Whether I leave behind
a year of joy or of trials and difficulties,

I pause to give thanks.
Thank you for being with me
every day of every year.

Thank you for making all things new and for giving me the grace of fresh starts

and new beginnings.
Remind me of your presence in the days to
come,
even when I feel pushed and rushed by busyness.

Be glorified in my life this year.

Amen

ADOPT-A-CHAPLAIN

This program supports the troops through the ministry of their chaplains. Thank you for the tremendous support of the Christmas shipment. Through the LCMS office of Ministry to the Armed Services, we were able to adopt and send care packages to a Lutheran chaplain in Syria, another in Korea, and two on Navy ships. We support chaplains of other denominations, including a second chaplain deployed to Syria, and also chaplains in Kuwait, Iraq, and Poland. When one is adopted, we send care packages once a month until they return home. All are welcome on the next packing day is Tues, Jan 21 at 1:00 pm.

Repenting of “Feasts that Know No Fast”

Fresh off the Christmas season and the retail frenzy that accompanies it, January brings a shot of frigid air into the lives of the people we know and love. This is not a meteorological statement either. While it is true that January is one of the colder months for those in North America, the cold front blast that hits us is the full force of credit card spending that fueled the retail frenzy. The bills for the gifts, the parties, the food and the travel have now come due. The credit card makes things convenient, but it also requires more discipline than many can muster. When the bills come in January for December’s celebration, it really puts a damper on things.

Congregations often make the same mistake in stewardship. We often charge forward in doing what we always do or starting new endeavors without counting the cost. But at the end of the month, or the end of year, when the bill comes due, the red ink on the congregational balance sheet smacks the people in the face like a stiff north wind in January. We hunkered down. We circle the wagons. We start to panic. The work of the Gospel suffers.

The fifth verse of “Forgive Us, Lord, for Shallow Thankfulness” (LSB 788) addresses this January situation. The words penned by William Watkins Reid are very needful for us to hear as we start a new year, while dealing with the bills of past efforts and expense.

“Forgive us, Lord for feast that knows not fast ...” This hits us hard, doesn’t it? We love when the money is flowing, the parties are going, and things are getting bigger and better. But there is a time in life, and most especially in our spiritual disciplines, that we need to fast. The purpose of a fast is to step back, lay something aside for a time, and replace it with meditation on Scripture and prayer. This is designed to keep us from turning something that may well be good into an idol that separates us from the God who loves us in Christ.

“For joy in things that meanwhile starve the soul ...” In “The Parable of the Sower,” we hear Jesus talk about how the worries and cares of life choke out the growth of the seed of the Word that was planted. We know how this happens in our lives. Professional and youth sports do this. Materialism does this. Travel and leisure and do this. There is a list of things that we enjoy that starve the soul.

But it also happens in our congregations. When corporate stewardship is not managed in a responsible way, it can and does destroy individual stewardship. Is it good individual stewardship to support a ministry that doesn’t take its corporate responsibility seriously?

“For walls and wars that hide your mercies vast and blur our vision of the Kingdom goal.” This is the ultimate end of the idolatry of failed stewardship. We build walls between believers within the church and hamper those who are outside from coming to the Light of Life that is Jesus. The wars we fight over money and its impact on ministry do the same. It eventually blurs our vision of what we are here to do: share the Good News of Jesus. When the wintry blast of January hits us in this fashion, we are called to repent.

When the Holy Spirit uses the cold front of the call to repentance, we meet the God who forgives and restores. That is what He does for individual and corporate stewards. When the bills hit, they call us back to Jesus. He is the One who indeed forgives us our shallow thankfulness and leads us into the bounty of His mercy yet again.

WELCOME

Please welcome our newest member, Jameson Todd Koetter, joining us through the waters of baptism in December. Jameson is the son of Nicole Koetter. Welcome Jameson!

PEACE TALK

If any of you hold a desire to camp, explore, or hike in the wilderness... you would do well to take along a compass. This device does not rely on cell service or battery life to direct an adventurer on the correct path. In fact, this tool was used for centuries to navigate across vast areas of land and sea. I have never utilized one myself but was always amazed at how that needle invariably aligns with the earth's magnetic north. With this reliable instrument in hand, there would be utmost confidence in being able to reach a determined destination. This assurance of not getting lost is priceless. Isn't that true with our spiritual adventure as well? The times we get lost in the mire of life's adventures and not sure where we are going? Failing to overcome the mindset of trying to navigate on our own, just to end up back in the same place we started? The good news as believers is we have a priceless means necessary to navigate these winding roads. With the Bible as our compass, we are pointed down the right path (Psalm 32:8). Finding the direction, we must go by placing our trust in the Lord that He will show us the way (Isaiah 30:21). Then following that direction where the needle points as Jesus Himself assures us that He is our magnetic spiritual north (John 14:6). But wouldn't you know it, the world is constantly placing other attractive paths in our life (Proverbs 4:14-15). Temptations of taking the easy road instead of the more challenging one to which God might be calling. Relying on our own understanding instead of using that compass when the "Y" in the road approaches (Proverbs 3:5-6). Truth to be told, no one among us take a straight path. Poor decisions, peer pressure, unforeseen circumstances... all attribute to the winding road of life. However, we must ask ourselves, "Where is my magnetic north?" What direction is the life I am living taking me? If it happens to be due south, it's never too late to turn back (Joel 2:12-13). My friends, whether you are an adventurer or not, you must use a compass. With God's Word in your hearts and minds, that revealed message will act as a guiding principle in your life. Providing direction and helping you navigate through the tough decisions and challenging circumstances you are daily faced with. When you use this compass, God's word will guide your steps and light up your path (Psalm 119:105). Let Jesus be your magnetic north as He will make your crooked paths straight again (Isaiah 42:16). And the best part of this life's journey? Is knowing where this path will lead... knowing where that needle is pointing... and what priceless joy will be waiting for us there (John 3:16). Dear Lord, help me stay on course as I navigate the crooked roads in my life. Thank You for sending Jesus as my magnetic north and my destination of eternal life with You. Amen.
